

“Don’t be shy, show the world
Your true skills and not crime
but build your communities”

A 2014 study published by RAND Corporation, “How Effective is Correctional Education, and Where Do We Go from Here?” critically analyzes results across 267 empirical studies, performing what is called research “met analysis.”

1. “43% lower odds of recidivate than inmates who did not.” and
2. Correctional education is a Cost-effective initiative than housing.

What you offer:

Estimator for Auto Sales,
Project Management,
General Auto Sales,
Transportation
Development,
Community Developers

School of Community Development
Daniel Matthew College
P.O. Box 23466, Bellville, Illinois 62223

DANIEL MATTHEW COLLEGE

SCHOOL OF
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

HOW DO I APPLY

We have two ways you can apply for the "School of Ecclesiastical Community Development Studies". You must include your application and the non-refundable fee of $105 when mailing. When emailing the application, fee must be in within (20) Twenty business days.

- By emailing admission department:
Federal@dmecs.org (for Federal Inmates and state@dmecs.org (for all state and local jails, or
- By mail to: School of Community Development Studies at Daniel Matthew College, P.O. Box 23466, Bellville, Illinois 62223

WHO ARE WE?

The school of Ecclesiastical Community Development at Daniel Matthew College is a sponsored program of the "Robinson Community Development Association" (Mr. Tyrone Robinson, Founder & Dean). Developed to provide the baseline for Ecclesiastical occupational, sales, membership and marketable skill builder to those interested in the field of Ecclesiastical transportation. The School of Ecclesiastical Community developed bring more than thirty years of ecclesiastical training and experience upon the core transportation building for the families and community.

Website: www.dmecs.org
Email: socd@dmecs.org
College Phone: 636-224-6642
Use Car Dealership Line:
314-884-2474 Option "O"

What are My Benefits?

Joining our School of Ecclesiastical Community Development Studies at Daniel Matthew College comes with a wide range of benefit, including, but not limited to;

1. National Recognition of your core program of studies,
2. Lifetime of Professional study Credit hours,
3. Career, Financial planning and Other Transportation workshops (free),
4. Opportunity to become alumni (upon) completion of the programs,
5. Membership in the Dealership,
6. Use Car Upon Completion.,
7. And much more....